

In The Presence of Our Enemies
A History of The Malignant Effects in American Schools of the UN's UNESCO and
Its Transformation of American Society from the Lips of Those Who Did It.

Author: Ellen McClay

Book Report by Ronnie L White 04/10/2021

About the Author: Ellen McClay's introduction to what she considers the malignancy of UNESCO began with a controversy in Los Angeles' schools in 1951 over the rewriting of American textbooks-books which eliminated patriotism, the uniqueness of America's government, promoting instead a world super government, a program from which UNESCO not only has never deviated, but has branched into many other areas of American life such as ecology, religion, abortion (labeled population control), human rights over property rights, producing chaos in our once relatively stable society.

During those years she addressed many different organizations including legislative committees of California and the U.S. Senate, publishing monthly widely read documentaries, which earned editorials and attacks from many so-called "liberal" publications, along with a few spots in the Congressional Record.

In the Nixon era she retired to work in the health food industry as supervisor of a dozen California health food stores, eventually becoming a representative for a national manufacturer, while writing feature stories and maintaining a column in a health food magazine.

Ellen McClay attended school in many states, concluding her early school career in Cambridge, Mass., on a scholarship to a private girl's school. Since then she intermittently attended the University of California, Irvine and Orange Coast College. At 69 in order to move from California to an isolated Arizona valley, she returned to school once again to learn medical transcription at which she is still employed sixteen years later. She is the author of In the Presence of Our Enemies (Author house, 2007), a project of five years duration drawing from her decades of research on UNESCO.

Many have questions about where did today's problems with education and the Anti American Sentiment we witness today get its start. This book "In the Presence of Our Enemies" explains in depth the beginning of today's assault by Communist Democrats and groups like ANTIFA and BLM.

The assault on American manners and morals began in earnest with the dawn of the 20th Century. The followers of the philosophies of Marx, Darwin, Huxley, Freud and the Fabians, all virulent anti-God propagandists, began their dedicated drive to replace traditional Christian history and beliefs. This drive was given great impetus with the successful replacement of Washington's legacy of remaining free of European entanglements by "internationally" minded globalist. Their disciple, John Dewey, struggled to integrate their themes into America's public schools, creating an undeclared revolution against the uniquely Christian Republic established in Philadelphia, the only one of its kind in all recorded history.

The creation in almost Mid-20th Century of the United Nations provided wholesale opportunities for the surreptitious replacement in American schools of traditional beliefs, mores and morality through the IMF, World Bank and Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO). Soviet agents riddled these agencies, as well as American State and Treasury Departments "present at the creation."

Alger Hiss, Soviet agent, saw to it the State Department became the official U.S. agency for UNESCO in American Schools, fulfilling a 19th Century prediction of Prof. Charles Hodge (Princeton) who, when such a system of public schools was first proposed, predicted it would become the "greatest engine for the propagation of nihilism the world has ever seen." UNESCO has been sowing tares among the wheat ever since 1946, under its godless program drafted by the Darwinian Julian Huxley. As Paul wrote to the Philippians, "...many walk, of whom I have told you often, and now tell you even weeping, that they are the enemies of the cross of Christ." (Phil. 4:18, NKJV)

Five years in the writing, the facts about the movement to remold America into a new design, has been meticulously researched from hundreds of government reports, biographies, histories, textbooks, showing the end goal has always been a one world government, with a replacement world religion, currently under construction by UNESCO and its many allies. One only needs to review the policies of Agenda 21 and Agenda 2030. Agenda 2030 was launched in 2015. Although not a replacement for Agenda 21, but rather a continuation of UN goals, it regroups the same objectives into 17 sustainable development goals (SDG). The same pillars are integrated throughout the goals for social change, the environment, and transforming our economic structure.

Don't let the 686 page sway you, you will find amazing information on each page! We must understand the history of why we are in the condition we currently find ourselves. As you read this book you can see that the goals of the UN/UNESCO being played out by the communist democrats today! I highly recommend this book for any person desiring to participate in returning our government back to the golden mean (the Republic it was designed to be.)

Amazon Comments:

1. ONE OF THE BEST BOOKS EXPLAINING "HOW DID WE GET HERE?" A must read for anyone concerned about education and the future of our nation. Don't let the number of pages discourage you. You will learn something new on most every page.

2. I strongly recommend Ms. McClay's meticulously footnoted and researched account of UNESCO's stealth and nefarious attempts to infiltrate American public schools during the 1950's and 60's. These people have not gone away, in fact, they have grown stronger under the banner of International Baccalaureate and must be de-funded. The anti-American values of those who stand united under the global UNESCO banner seek only to undermine our national sovereignty, American ingenuity, creativity and entrepreneurial spirit.

3. The untold story of how American schools were seized by the left during the founding of the U.N. and why society is falling apart now, all these years later. American children are being molded into citizens of the world and taught to despise the origins of the United States in the Revolutionary War, from the time of entering school. This was done through the rewriting of the nation's textbooks; even as Sex Ed was expanded to fill the gap.

4. I would recommend everyone read this book. Especially if you have children in the public school system. I was truly amazed at what I found out. People should familiarize themselves with how many United Nations organizations are interwoven within the United States and how the United Nations stands for a One World Government. How it will destroy the US sovereignty. It will show you no matter which party is in power nothing will ever change because the people in control (UN) have a different agenda.
